All items returned must be in new, resellable condition, and are subject to a 20% restocking fee.

As much as we strive to be perfect, we are a company made up of humans, and occasionally we make mistakes. Should you notice a problem with your order, such as the wrong item or a missing item, claims must be reported to us within three (3) business days from receipt of the shipment. Any claims after that time will not be honored, so it is important that you check your shipments very carefully when they arrive. This will help you avoid the added cost of having to purchase replacements as well.
